Sponsor DevOpsDays Victoria 2019

DevOpsDays is completely volunteer run and not-for-profit. This means that it costs less to run, and less to attend. We look to appeal to a wide audience looking to improve the communication between the traditional silos of the Development and Operations process.

DevOpsDays looks to involve all our attendees not just in learning, but also in sharing their knowledge, which it facilitates through a combination of curated content and attendee driven “open spaces”.

This is the second DevOpsDays in Victoria. We are building on last years single day, 100 person capacity venue which sold out in five days. We are investigating venues with a capacity between 200 and 300 people, and adding a second day! You can expect attendees to be a diverse set of technical practitioners involved in Development; Operations; as well as Security, Quality, and Process.

You can best interact with attendees at the practitioner level. By sending your engineers and developers, your organization can be much better placed for involvement in discussions with other practitioners.
